Why Take Relationships 101™?

Most of us were probably never offered this subject in school. After 12 plus years, we learned to read and write but not how to successfully communicate. We learned how to solve a math equation but weren't taught how to solve a dispute with our mate. We learned how to dissect a frog but we never explored the dynamics of human relationships. We were graded on our tests, but not often acknowledged for our strengths.

How Is This Training Different?

Attention to what works. Practical ways to improve the quality of your most meaningful relationships. Effective techniques to solve common problems in relationships. Breathing techniques to release stress. You are always at choice in this training. It is positive, light, safe and nurturing.

In one word, Awesome!
